SCOTTISH PREACHER TO LEAD EXTENDED CHAPEL

Preaching on October 6 at the year's first extended chapel service (10:00 a.m.) will be The Reverend Campbell Maclean of Cramond Church, Edinburgh. Mr. Maclean serves a congregation of 2,000 in a parish of 4,000, finding himself (he writes) "in the medieval situation of having the only church in the whole community . . . a 17th century Kirk servicing a village community for generations now suddenly become the home of a surburban people, part of Edinburgh's outcrop." His parish has been the setting for a film featuring the new dialogue between theology and culture.

Mr. Maclean will lecture to a homiletics class on Tuesday, October 5, in addition to appearing before the Lehigh Presbytery Seminar being held in the Seminary's Center for Continuing Education.

SEMINARY SPORTS BEGIN

Seminary Athletic Chairman Dale Schlafer has announced preparations for the fall intramural athletic program. Interested students are invited to participate in any of the events offered by this well organized alternative to "academitis."

The Seminary gymnasium is available at any time for private or group recreation. Keys to the gym are available from the following people on campus:

Dick Grea	307 Alexander Hall
Howard Milkman	115 Brown Hall
Warren Lee	303 Hodge Hall

Students living off campus may obtain a key at the switchboard in the Administration Building or from Don Wagner in the Princeton Windsor Apartments, 306 A-2.

During the year the athletic program will include intramural football, basketball, softball, and volley ball, and varsity soccer and basketball. Tournaments in handball, squash and ping-pong are also a part of the program. There will be special events such as all-campus ice skating parties, swimming parties, and a golf tournament. Watch the athletic schedules and box scores which will regularly appear in THE WINESKIN.

NEED MONEY?

Mr. William Shepherd, Director of Student Employment, announces that that are many babysitting jobs open for students, through his office, 109 Hodge Hall.

DISTINGUISHED HISTORIAN VAN LEEUWEN GUEST LECTURER ON CAMPUS

Mr. Arend van Leeuwen, Islamic studies specialist and cultural historian from the Netherlands, is now visiting the Princeton Seminary campus before appearing October 4 as the principal speaker at the National Council of Churches' Division of Overseas Missions annual convention in Nashville, Tennessee. On Thursday, September 30, Mr. van Leeuwen addresses the entire seminary at 7:00 p.m. in the Main Lounge of the Campus Center, on the subject "Prophecy in a Technocratic Age."

Mr. van Leeuwen, currently Director of the Lay Education Center Kerk en Wereld in the Netherlands, has become one of the world's foremost historians of the Christian faith. Beginning as a specialist in Islamic studies with a doctoral degree from the University of Leiden, the Dutch scholar has broadened his work and is now famous for his book Christianity and World History.

New Theory of History

In that study he advanced for the first time in many years a new interpretation of the direction of modern history, in the tradition of Spengler and Toynbee. Princeton Seminary Professor Charles C. West summarized van Leeuwen's thesis as the idea that the Christian faith has made world history unique by injecting a revolutionary principle into its very midst. Starting in the West, van Leeuwen argues, the history-transforming Christian faith has now influenced the entire world, leaving a universal history with its roots, however, in the west.

The Registrar's office reminds students that the deadline for withdrawing from a course without permission of the Faculty is 4:30 p.m. on October 8, 1965.

KOINONIA TO HEAR VAN LEEUWEN, WEST

"Koinonia," the Seminary's theological association of doctoral students, holds its first meeting Friday, October 1, according to Mr. David Wiley, chairman of the group. Mr. Arend van Leeuwen, distinguished speaker from the Institute Kerk en Wereld in the Netherlands, and Seminary Professor of Christian Ethics Mr. Charles C. West will hold a "conversation" on the subject "Christianity and World History." The meeting, preceded by a 6:00 p.m. dinner in the Small Dining Room of the Campus Center, will begin at 8:00 p.m. in the Main Lounge. All faculty and doctoral students are cordially invited to attend this event, while B.D., M.R.E. and Th.M. students may attend by individual special invitation only.

JOAN LIPPINCOTT OPENS FALL ORGAN RECITAL SERIES IN CHAPEL

On Thursday, October 7, at 1:35 p.m. organist Joan Lippincott will inaugurate the fall organ recital series in Miller Chapel, with a program including Cook's "Fanfare for Organ," some Bach choral preludes, and Handel's "Concerto No. 10 in D Minor." Seminarians will have an opportunity to hear an outstanding organist already familiar to many campus recital-goers. Miss Lippincott is a native of New Jersey and a graduate of Westminster Choir College (Bachelor and Master of Music degrees) and of The Curtis Institute of Music (Artist's Diploma) where she was a student of Dr. Alexander McCurdy. Her recitals have been enthusiastically received across the country, with audiences praising not only her outstanding technique and sensitive musicianship, but also the special vitality she brings to organ playing. At the present time Miss Lippincott is an Assistant Professor of Organ at Westminster Choir College here in Princeton, N. J.

Series Announced

The October 6 concert is the first in the regular Thursday recital series for this fall. Mr. David Hugh Jones, choir director and Chairman of the Department of Music at the Seminary, said last week that an especially fine roster of artists and programs has been arranged. The recitals last 40 minutes, from 1:35 to 2:05 p.m. each Thursday in Miller Chapel. They were enjoyed last year by audiences ranging to over 100 students.

WIVES STUDY TOO!

HENDRY, BEKER, GAERTNER TO LECTURE

Again this year the Seminary Wives Fellowship under the presidency of Mrs. Gary Bouma will offer a study course of five bi-weekly lectures, this year on the subject "The New Testament Christ." Complementing their husbands' academic work, the wives will divide into two groups for addresses by three of the Seminary's outstanding professors. Mr. George Hendry, Professor of Systematic Theology, will lead an advanced section in a study of New Testament christology, while an introductory level group will study under Mr. J. Christiaan Beker, Visiting Professor of New Testament, and Mr. Bertil Gaertner, newly appointed Professor of New Testament.

First Meetings October 6

Both sections meet for the first time Wednesday, October 6, at 7:45 p.m. The advanced section will assemble in the Campus Center Auditorium to hear Mr. Hendry speak on the topic "The Power of God." Texts for this section will be Oscar Cullman's The Christology of the New Testament, and D. M. Baillie's God Was in Christ.

The introductory section will meet in the Campus Center Alumni Room to hear Mr. Gaertner speak on "How the Synoptic Gospels were Created." Assignment for the first lecture is F. C. Grant's The Gospels: Their Origin and Growth. (Other assignments will be made later in the course.)

Wives' Course chairwoman Mrs. Gordon Hess has asked wives to remember their $5.00 registration fee.

VIEWPOINT IS BACK!

VIEWPOINT, the austere publication with a big heart, begins its third year with today's issue, devoted to summer field education. The topical issue is a new format, and will be used often throughout the year. Students and faculty are encouraged to contribute both to the topical issues and to the following "reaction issues." Articles may be submitted through the special boxes outside the Office of Student Publications, 111 Hodge Hall, or given to the seminary switchboard operator. The "thinking publication" urges members of the seminary not only to think but to write, and to contribute freely to VIEWPOINT.

McCORD'S SPEAK TO WIVES

President and Mrs. James I. McCord will be guests of the Seminary Wives' Fellowship at its "Wives' Welcome" meeting on October 13, 1965. Both the President and his wife will address the wives on "Princeton Theological Seminary—Its Past, Present, and Future." The meeting will take place at 7:45 p.m. in the Campus Center Auditorium.

The October 13 evening (not to be confused with the Wives' Course, which is an activity sponsored by the Wives' Fellowship) will be an opportunity for new Seminary wives to get acquainted and to learn more about this interesting community. The circles will meet briefly following the fellowship meeting.

A DIFFERENT KIND OF TEACHING

Remember the song, "Whatever we got, we share"? Here's your opportunity to see how it works. The Princeton Study Center is again sponsoring a Tutorial Program for children of Princeton between the 6th and 12th grades. A volunteer tutor arranges to meet once a week for a 90 minute session with his assigned tutee. These sessions will be held at the Community Park School (down Witherspoon Street), Monday-Thursday, 3:30-5:00 and 7:00-8:30 p.m.

It is hoped that the tutor will help one child towards a working knowledge of a specific subject, which is determined by the school teacher and guidance counselor (math, English, history, etc.). The tutor strives to motivate the individual student through a continued interest and understanding of him as a person. A great amount of freedom is allowed each tutor.

Here's your chance to take your concern and creativity off the paper and into action. If you would consider volunteering 1½ hours, or more, per week, please contact Dave Rogge (215 Hodge) during the next two weeks.

YALE CHAPLAIN COFFIN TO SPEAK

William Sloane Coffin, Chaplain at Yale University, will address the Seminary Tuesday, October 12 at 7:00 p.m. in the Main Lounge of the Campus Center. Mr. Coffin's subject will be "Taking Peace Seriously: A Second Look at Christian Responsibility and American Policy in Asia." His appearance here is sponsored by the Church and Society Committee, whose chairman is Mr. James Laurie.

Mr. Coffin has long been noted for his concern on social issues, and was part of the early "Freedom ride" in the south, in a time when civil rights arrests were not yet "respectable."

Often quoted and written about in a wide variety of religious and secular journals, Mr. Coffin was the subject of a March 1965 Christian Century article which chronicled the impact of his dynamic and positive brand of Christianity.

The Presbyterian minister has been Chaplain at Williams College, and since 1958 at Yale where he has had a significant impact on campus life.

OFF TO THE POLLS!

The meeting for the election of Junior Class officers will be held Tuesday, October 12, at 1:35 p.m. in the Campus Center Auditorium. Election to the offices of President, Vice-President, Secretary and Treasurer will be made after nominations have been heard from the floor. This is the only time at which nominations will be made.

The office of President carries with it a seat on the Student Council and a responsible position of influence as the chief official liason between the Junior Class and the Council. Together, the officers of the Class act as an important communicator of Class opinion and suggestion to the Administration and Faculty. Carefully consider the possible nominees and support your selection October 12.

Students who received conditional grades for courses or practicums during the last semester are responsible for ascertaining from the instructor the requirements that still must be satisfied.

Another blood typing session will be held on October 14, in Stuart Hall from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., and in the Campus Center Foyer from 5:00 to 7:30 p.m. This second session will give off-campus students and those who were unable to be present for the earlier typing a chance to enlist themselves in the Princeton Seminary blood donor program. Hematogenous young theologians are urged to bleed for an important cause, and to see John Potter (413 Hodge Hall, 924-6862) for more information.

LUTHERN, WILSON FELLOWSHIPS

Several graduate fellowships offered to Lutheran students and clergymen are open for application through D. Campbell Wyckoff, Director of Doctoral Studies. Interested Lutheran students should see him well before the deadline date of November 1, 1965.

The coveted Woodrow Wilson fellowships are also in the final application stages. Students must be nominated for a Wilson Fellowship, which is intended primarily for those anticipating careers in college teaching. Students desiring more information should see Samuel Blizzard, Director of Student Studies before the nomination deadline of October 31.

REIGNER READING ROOM HOURS

Hours for the Reigner Reading Room (the Seminary's "second library," specializing in Christian Education) have recently been announced. The resources of this excellent Christian Education collection are available to all Seminary students during the following hours:

Mon.-Fri.—1:30 to 5:00 p.m.
Tues.-Thurs.—7:00 to 9:00 p.m.
Saturday—10:00 to 11:00 a.m.

The Reigner Reading Room contains a wide variety of audio-visual, curriculum, periodical, and book resources that are available in the area of Christian education. Many of the materials are especially valuable in field work responsibilities. The Reading Room is located on the Stockton Street Campus in the Education Building, between North and South halls.

WATTS MINISTER HERE

The Reverend Casper Glenn, minister of the Bel-Vue Presbyterian Church in the riot-torn Watts section of Los Angeles, will be on the Seminary Campus Monday, October 18, for informal discussion with students. Following lunch in the Campus Center Refectory, Mr. Glenn will hold a discussion in the main lounge.

He has been very active in efforts to hold down violence in Watts, and is one of the few people who met with Governor Brown to try to interpret the situation this summer. He also met with Federal personnel when they came in to try to establish corrective procedures.

Mr. Glenn's topic, "Report from Christian Los Angeles," should be of especial interest to Seminary students in view of Princeton Students' firm stand in last year's civil rights marches.

SPECIAL DINNER ON TUESDAY

On Tuesday, October 19, dinner will be in honor of the Seminary's foreign students. Many will remember last year's special international fete, with its golden opportunities for meeting new students from foreign countries, as well as for eating delicious international cuisine. Take this chance to welcome a visitor to Princeton, and to see the world without leaving your chair.

IT'S PARTY TIME

Time for all-campus fun at the all-campus party this Friday, October 15! Entertainment, dancing, folk singers and anything else your social committee thinks of—mark the date in your calendar. It's good for your psyche, it's good for your mind (studying not to be mentioned!). Tennent Hall, this Friday; 8:00 p.m. See you!

METZGER AT WHITE HOUSE

On September 29 Prof. Bruce M. Metzger was among those invited to be present at the White House when President Johnson signed the Bill establishing the National Foundation for the Arts and Humanities.

Two years ago Mr. Metzger drew up a statement concerning Biblical studies in America which was included in the volume entitled Report of the Commission on the Humanities. A copy of this book, which was published jointly by the American Council of Learned Societies, the Council of Graduate Schools in the U.S., and the United Chapters of Phi Beta Kappa, was sent last year to each Senator and Congressman.

The new program, as enacted by Congress, will provide support for a variety of projects designed to encourage and develop scholars, artists, and teachers.

WIVES RUN SWAP SHOP

For those last minute furnishings that Korvette did not have or Junior just destroyed, the Wives' Fellowship has again opened its "Swap Shop" in the North Hall playroom. This bizarre bazaar will be open day and night from Oct. 18 to 23, and students may swap or take what they need. Household goods, tops, clothes, furniture, and other non-categorical goodies are available. For more information call Mrs. Dottie Burck, 924-9205.

THEOLOGY TODAY AT SPECIAL RATE

Seminary students may subscribe to Theology Today for a special rate of $2.00 per year (regularly $3.00). Subscriptions or single copies may be purchased in the Theology Today office, 104 Hodge Hall.

FAMED ORGANIST AT PTS

Mr. Robert Baker, Dean of the School of Sacred Music at Union Theological Seminary in New York City, and widely hailed as one of the country's greatest concert organists, will give a public recital at 7:45 p.m., Tuesday, November 2 at Princeton Seminary's Miller Chapel.

The program for the recital includes works by Reger, Boyce, Saint Saens, Brahms, Bach, Messiaen, Roberts, Walcha, Bloch, Gehrenbeck, and Vierne. Press reviews of Dean Baker's recitals have praised his concert work for its "exciting virtuosity," "spine-tingling excitement," and "masterful musicianship."

Dean Baker

He has been one of the most popular recitalists for conventions of the American Guild of Organists, and was chosen by the Guild to represent them by playing the opening recital at the First International Congress of Organists in London in 1957.

As Dean of the School of Sacred Music at Union, Dr. Baker holds one of the nation's most influential and responsible posts in the field of church music and organ playing. He was one of the first to be awarded the degree of Doctor of Sacred Music at Union.

In addition to being an outstanding concert organist, Dr. Baker is in constant demand as an organ architect. The new organs in the Philharmonic Hall of New York's Lincoln Center and in the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church of New York City were constructed with his consultation.

PTS DELEGATES TO THEOLOGICAL EDUCATION CONFERENCE

The Council on Theological Education will hold its Annual Meeting in Atlantic City on November 3 to 5. Several Princeton Seminary faculty members will be present to take part in discussions on current issues in theological education. Those going will be President James I. McCord, Dean Arthur M. Adams, and Mssrs. Samuel W. Blizzard, Edward J. Jurji, Charles C. West, and D. Campbell Wyckoff.

ACADEMIC COMMISSION IN ACTION

Do you have an academic question, gripe, or brilliant inspiration? Take it to the Academic Commission. This Student Council committee consists of a group of nine students who meet regularly in consultation with members of the Administration and Faculty regarding matters of classes and curriculum. Students who wish to present some topic or problem in this area for the Commission's consideration and action should communicate their concern to some member of the Commission.

This should be done before the first Monday of each month. Dave Wills is Chairman and Phil Sorensen is Secretary. Serving with them are: Rick Thyne, Dale Schlafer, Paul Mickey, Susie Noble, Jeff Wampler, Jim Brown, George Renwick, Randy Nichols and George Taylor.

WIVES' THEATER PARTY

The Seminary Wives' Fellowship will sponsor a theater party to see the McCarter Theatre performance of Shaw's Major Barbara Friday, November 12, at 8:30 p.m. Tickets for the show may be obtained at a discounted rate of $2.00 for use with the party group. Students desiring reservations should call Mrs. Carolyn McPherson by November 2 in order to be sure of seats. Her telephone is 452-2859.

The group will attend the play together, and following the performance join an adult education group for discussion of the play with the director and actors. Refreshments will be served. Although the event is sponsored by the Wives' Fellowship, any student is invited to attend if he wishes (after making reservations with Mrs. McPherson).

IT HAS BEEN MOVED ....

This issue of THE WINESKIN initiates a new column which will treat the activities of your Student Council. After each meeting of the Council, the Minutes will be published in a brief, abstract form in this paper. It is hoped that this will give the Student Body a greater awareness of the Council and knowledge of its work and resources.

October 18

The October 18, 1965, meeting of the Student Council had, as its special guest, President McCord who presented the Harlem-Seminary Students proposal to the Council. This proposal is concerned with bringing several students of the Newark Prep. School to the Seminary Campus one day every two weeks. Interested Seminarians will study with a student in the Library and have dinner with him in the Campus Center. The emphasis is on exposing these high school students to the atmosphere of Princeton Seminary and on an interaction between Harlem and Princeton. This program was given full backing by the Council and Vice-President Mark B. Rohloff was appointed Co-ordinator of the proposal.

President McCord also shared his plans for the expansion of the Summer Language Program in 1966.

The activation of the Stewardship Committee was then discussed and Jim Laurie is to act as Chairman.

The need for better Student-Faculty relationships was discussed and concrete action planned. The goal is to provide the Faculty with a better, clearer impression of student thought.

Ken Smith introduced the problem of the breakfast hour and attempts to have a later breakfast are being pursued. The Creature Comforts Committee was re-established in regard to this with Ken Smith as Chairman.

The meeting was then adjourned by President Jim Carter. Minutes recorded by Secretary Elinor Kirkland.

Wineskin Deadline

The Wineskin staff reminds its readers that the deadline for items to appear is the Friday before date of issue. Beginning with this issue The Wineskin is printed under a different arrangement than previously, and the Friday deadline must be met. No longer will it be possible for late items to be included after final copy has been prepared. Your cooperation will facilitate the production of a regular and reliable Seminary calendar.

MEAL SCHEDULE CHANGE

To accommodate the afternoon Missions Lectures, set for Monday and Tuesday, November 8 and 9, at 1:20 p.m., the noon meal in the Campus Center for these two days will begin at 12:45 rather than at 1:00 p.m. No other changes will be made in the daily schedule.

School Day for the Friends

Again this year the Friends of Princeton Seminary will spend a "School Day" on the Seminary campus, November 9, hearing lectures and discussing the theological educational institution they support. "The Friends," as this organization is called, is a group of interested lay people who provide scholarship funds for Princeton Seminary students, and keep actively in touch with the Seminary activities.

Once a year they come to the campus to meet with Seminary officials, to hear lectures on Princeton's role in the training of ministers, and to renew their on-campus association with the Seminary. They will join students and administrative officials for lunch in the Campus Center Refectory on November 9.

Later in the afternoon the Friends will hear lectures by Missions Lecturer C. W. Forman, and Seminary President James I. McCord, who will speak on the subject, "Princeton Seminary and the World-Wide Ministry."

Harrell to Lecture on Communications

The Reverend John Harrell will be at the Seminary next week to meet with various classes, to address Koinonia, and to hold an open meeting with students. On Wednesday, November 10, he will speak to the doctoral students' fellowship, Koinonia, on the theme "Communication and the Communication Arts." The meeting will be held at 8:00 p.m. in the Main Lounge of the Campus Center. Seminary Professor Hugh T. Kerr will be the respondent to Mr. Harrell's presentation.

An evening workshop entitled "Communication in the Church" will be held at 8:00 p.m., Thursday, November 11, in the Tennent Hall Lounge.

Interested persons may meet individually with Mr. Harrell on Friday, November 12. An appointment roster is posted on the bulletin board on the first floor of the Christian Education Building.

Mr. Harrell was formerly in charge of the development of audio-visual techniques for the Department of Christian Education of the Protestant Episcopal Church. He now produces filmstrips, picture series, and other teaching aids. An annotated pictorial exhibit on the theme of stewardship, entitled "You Are More," is on display in the Christian Education Building. Another exhibit on the theme of youth is in the hallway in the basement of the Campus Center. It is called "So Here We Are."

Faculty Approves New Dimension

Faculty and administrative approval has recently been given for the publication of a completely revised Dimension, the Seminary's still-young student theological journal. The new magazine will be a complete revision of that which appeared twice last year. It is hoped that the first, experimental, issue of the magazine will appear early in the second semester.

Operating on a revised editorial principle, Dimension will endeavor to publish the best scholarly work done in Seminary courses, as well as that submitted independently by students. Faculty members will select promising work and recommend its publication in the journal, while working with students to prepare manuscripts for publication.

Dimension will therefore stand midway between purely "academic" work and professional journalism, and in that position seek to encourage promising student scholarship for which publication in professional journals is often difficult. It will be a serious theological journal and a means of access to more widely read organs.

Students are invited to talk with professors about publishing their work. It is hoped that many will find the writing of "ordinary" papers and essays more exciting when it is done with a view to their possible publication. For more information, and for independent submission of manuscripts, Seminary students should see Dimension Editor and Director of Student Publications J. Randall Nichols, telephone 924-7242.

Samuel W. Blizzard, Director of Student Studies, is available to meet students at mutually convenient times. Current office hours are posted on the office door (Room 115, Hodge Hall). From time to time these office hours are changed to meet student demands and to coordinate office hours with the Director's classroom commitments. Any student who wishes to meet with the Director should contact Mrs. David Hirst, Extension 727.

Be Prepared

The Cub Scout Pack sponsored by the First Presbyterian Church of Princeton is seeking Seminary students to participate on its Committee Staff.

Staff members give support to den leaders in their scouting advancement programs and oversee the monthly pack meetings at the church. Those interested in this work with boys eight, nine and ten years old should contact Woody Skillman, 921-6755.

Shaull at Student-Faculty Luncheon

On Tuesday, November 16, at 1:00 p.m. the third of this semester's student-faculty luncheon forums will be held in the Small Dining Room of the Campus Center. Guest for the meeting will be Seminary Professor M. Richard Shaull, who will discuss "Christianity, Marxism, and the Future of Brazil."

The Tuesday luncheons are sponsored by the newly reorganized Theological Society. They offer students an opportunity to meet informally over lunch with a faculty member, and to join him in discussing a subject of current interest. Each week an attendance roster is posted on the bulletin board in the foyer of the Campus Center, and students are urged to indicate their intention of attending early in the week.

Already this year faculty guests at the Tuesday luncheons have been David B. Evans, patristics scholar who is beginning his first year on the Princeton faculty, and J. Christiaan Beker, now Visiting Professor of New Testament, who will join the Seminary's permanent faculty in September 1966.

Christian Education Interviews

On Thursday, November 18, the Reverend Thomas Brown and the Reverend Arvo Vaurio will be on campus from 9:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. to interview students interested in opportunities in the area of Christian Education. This notice is of special interest and import to M.R.E. candidates, to those who wish to discuss opportunities for teaching and for service as chaplains in schools and colleges related to The United Presbyterian Church. This would also include special ministries on college and university campuses, positions in the field and headquarters staff of the Board of National Missions and the Board of Christian Education, as well as specialized ministries in the Board of National Missions such as Indian Work, Spanish-American Work, and certain types of town and country churches. Those desiring interviews should sign the roster in Room 16 of the Administration Building. These interviews are especially for seniors and graduate students completing their work in June 1966. Other interested students may ask for interviews if the schedule permits.

Princeton-Yale Theological Forum

On November 19 and 20 the Presbyterian students at Yale Divinity School will be guests on the Princeton Seminary campus for a meeting on the proposed Confession of 1967. The forum, sponsored by the Inter-Seminary Committee, will convene for three sessions to hear and debate student papers prepared especially for the occasion. On Friday, November 19, at 7:30 p.m. the subject will be "Confessional Theology." The Saturday, November 20, meetings will be at 10:00 a.m. for a discussion of "The New Testament View of the Authority of Scripture," and at 2:00 p.m. for the paper entitled "The Theology of Congregation in the Mission of Reconciliation." All meetings will be held in the Stevenson Lounge of the Campus Center.

Paul Mickey, Chairman of the Inter-Seminary Committee, extends an open invitation to all Seminary students to attend the forum, which reciprocates a similar meeting held last spring on the Yale Divinity School campus.

World Council Scholarships Announced

The Scholarship Committee of the World Council of Churches offers approximately 150 scholarships each academic year to men and women preparing for full-time Christian service and who have completed all or most of their basic theological study. The scholarships are available in a variety of countries, including France, Germany, the Netherlands, Switzerland, the United Kingdom, and Canada. Exchange programs with students from Asia and Africa are also encouraged.

Deadlines for completed scholarship applications are December 1 for places in Canada, the United States, Asia, Africa, Australia, and Latin America; January 1 for places in the European countries; and February 1 for the Graduate School of the Ecumenical Institute Bossey, and for Switzerland.

Inquiries should be addressed to the Ecumenical Exchange and Scholarship Program, the National Council of Churches, 475 Riverside Drive, New York City.

WHERE ARE YOU?

The Office of the Registrar requests that each student stop at the Seminary switchboard in the Administration Building to fill out a class schedule information card. These cards are used by the Seminary for locating students through the day, especially in emergencies. In order that students may be sure of receiving messages, and so that their whereabouts can always be determined, they should provide this schedule information as soon as possible.

Future Lectures Announced

In addition to the Missions Lectures given by Mr. Forman last week, the Seminary's other two lecture series have recently been announced. The six-address Warfield Lectures will be delivered February 7 to 11, 1966, by Otto Weber, Professor of Reformed Theology at the University of Goettingen. Weber's topic will be "Calvin's Doctrine of the Word."

The annual Stone Lectures, April 11 to 14, 1966, will be given by Erik Routley, former lecturer in church history and organist at Mansfield College, Oxford. His subject will be "Church Music and Hymnody."

In addition to the above two series, three evening lectures will be delivered by Ernst Kaesemann on March 14 to 16, 1966, on the subject "The Interpretation of Paul."

Medals on Display

Take a left turn at the check out desk instead of the usual right upon entering Speer Library for a first hand look at some fascinating Reformation history. There in the display case is a collection of almost 100 square, round, and diamond-shaped medals commemorating the Reformation, the Augsburg Confession, and subsequent anniversaries.

The display is part of the collection of Herbert J. Erlanger, a native of Nuremberg and now a resident of New York City. All of the medals either were made in Nuremberg or by Nuremberg engravers or show the coat of arms of that city.

Other displays of theological and historical interest may be seen from time to time throughout the Library. The showcase of faculty publications, located near the main entrance, is always of special interest to Seminary students.

It Has Been Moved . . .

Student Council Proceedings, November 2

President James Carter opened the meeting with prayer. The floor was then given to Old Business. Treasurer Charles Martin gave the Council the results of his talk with Mr. Lawder. If there are any problems regarding crediting bills, work scholar payments, etc., Mr. Lawder will be happy to discuss such with the student. Also, professors who are guests in the Dining Hall will not be charged for their meals.

Vice-President Mark B. Rohloff then discussed the Harlem-Princeton Project and noted that it will definitely begin the week of November 8. The specific week day will be designated shortly.

Chairman of the Creature Comforts Committee, Kenneth Smith, informed the Council that efforts to obtain a later breakfast hour will be continued.

James Laurie, the liaison between the Seminary and the A.R.F.E.P. Committee, then had the floor and informed the Council of the latest developments of A.R.F.E.P. It is loosely termed an ad hoc committee and Bruce Robertson is the Seminary Chairman of it. It is a committee on which Seminarians are serving in the community but is not an official Student Council Committee.

New Business

Marlynn May was then given the floor and presented to the Council a project taking place in Princeton. It is the initiation of a Coffee House for all University and Seminary students, Young Professionals, and Westminster Choir College students and is sponsored by the same. It is to be in the First Presbyterian Church of Princeton and will begin November 13. The purpose is to encourage relationships among these groups by providing a place for meeting and conversation. It will be open two nights a week, Friday and Saturday. Seminary involvement is encouraged and any talent or work that can be offered will be appreciated. The news of the Coffee House was enthusiastically received by the Council.

George Taylor, President of the Junior Class, then proposed an amendment to the Constitution in order to deal with the discontent of the Juniors at having to both nominate and elect their class officers at the same meeting. It was moved and carried that the Constitution be changed to read: By-Laws, II Elections, B. 2, "Junior Class Officers shall be nominated at a meeting of the Junior Class called by the President of the Student Council prior to the third week of the first semester. At a subsequent meeting of the Junior Class, one week later, elections by ballot will be held under the supervision of the President of the Student Council." This proposed change will be voted on in the Spring.

David Wills moved the meeting be adjourned and the motion was seconded. President James Carter then adjourned the meeting. Minutes recorded by Elinor Kirkland.

McCarter Notes

Three special and well-known events are on the docket at McCarter Theatre and will appear within the next week. The first event is the performance of Ibsen's "An Enemy of the People," which will premiere on November 13, with additional performances on November 18 and 19. Ibsen's play is an angry yet comically ironic indictment of middle class hypocrisy, and is one of his best received works.

Also in the McCarter Fall Drama Series is G. B. Shaw's "Major Barbara." The final performance of this play will be on November 20.

Don't miss the Princeton debut of John Williams, Australian guitarist, heir and protégé of the famed Andres Segovia! He will appear at McCarter Theatre on November 16, at 8:30 p.m. Begin to get your tickets now!

They're Free!

A limited supply of informational materials has been received from the Methodist national offices for distribution to Methodist students at Princeton. These materials can be picked up in the Christian Education office in the Education Building. Do you qualify? Stop in!

Busy at Midnight?

Some of the best events come to McCarter Theatre at the oddest hours! The next scheduled McCarter Midnight Special, "Blues in the Night," is set for Friday, November 19, and will feature Brownie McGee, Sonny Terry, and Jesse Fuller.

Fuller has been described as a one-man band and is a master of song and guitar. Blind Sonny Terry, "whose harmonica talks," has been with guitarist McGee since 1939 and they represent one of the best known blues units.

Folk fans, blues buffs and avant garde jazz fans . . . make the scene!

Senior Fellowship Regulations Changed

At its meeting on November 10, the Faculty effected certain modifications in the regulations that govern the awarding of Senior Fellowships. The revised regulations are posted on the official notice board in Stuart Hall, and should be consulted by students interested in competing for a Senior Fellowship.

Clinical Interviews

Chaplain Kendrick Lee of Trenton State Hospital will be here Monday, November 22, to interview students interested in clinical training. This will be the last of Chaplain Lee's regularly scheduled interview times on the Seminary campus. Students may make appointments on the roster posted on the door of Mr. Lapsley's office, in the Campus Center. The interviews will take place in the Small Library of the Center for Continuing Education, 12 Library Place.

There's Something Final About a Final

The schedule of first semester final examinations appears on the reverse page. You are urged to save it for future reference. The Registrar has provided the following interpretative canons, which can be applied where appropriate to the examination schedule.

Students are reminded that the appearance of a scheduled examination does not mean a final will be given in the course. Individual professors should be consulted to determine whether the scheduled final examination will be utilized. Academic regulations provide that all course work not due on or before December 16 will be due on (but not before) the date provided for the examination.

All examinations are to be taken in the rooms indicated, or in the typing room, unless the instructor explicitly permits the examination to be written outside of the building.

In case of conflict between examinations, the student shall ascertain from the Director of Student Studies which examination shall be taken at the conflict period on January 20. A semester paper and an examination, or two semester papers, scheduled for the same time will not produce a conflict under this regulation.

Petitions for the postponement of final examinations, or for extensions of time beyond established deadlines for submitting required work, must be filed according to the academic regulations. The relevant provisions are posted on the permanent official notice board in Stuart Hall.

Unless authorized to do so by the Faculty, no instructor may accept class requirements after the deadline specified on this schedule. Extensions beyond this date may be given by the Faculty, upon the presentation of a petition by the student concerned.

Thanksgiving Celebration

That special day and that dinner to end all dinners is coming once again (a bit early) Tuesday, November 23. Then, at 6:00 p.m., the dining hall will be overflowing, the tables laden with a special menu, and dieting forgotten. This sumptuous Thanksgiving meal will include whole roast turkey, rice stuffing, candied yams, corn bread, and pumpkin and mince pies. Starve all day if you must, but do not miss this special occasion! The invitation is open to all. The charge for guests will be $2.00 each.

Salute to Princeton

At 4:30 p.m., Sunday, November 28, WFIL-TV of Philadelphia will broadcast a half-hour "Salute to Princeton." It is one of a series honoring communities within the station's range of transmission. Among those appearing on the program is Seminary President James I. McCord.

Robert Theobald to Speak on Cybernation

Former New York City Superintendent of Public Schools Robert Theobald will speak at the Seminary on Monday, November 29, from 7:30 to 9:00 p.m. in the Campus Center Auditorium. His appearance is part of a nationwide tour of campuses during which Theobald is speaking on cybernetics and the human problems associated with it.

"Cybernation," for the uninitiated, is a production process whereby a computer is placed in control of automatic machinery, thereby displacing workers who formerly were necessary even in an automated manufacturing system. Attendant on this are problems of leisure time, distribution of income, personal identity, etc., which may become more acute as cybernation is more and more used in the manufacturing enterprise.

Theobald's appearance here is under the auspices of the Church and Society Committee, which recommends reading of pamphlets now available at the Theological Book Agency on the subject of cybernation.

The Reading Period: Should You Read?

Reading furnishes the mind only with materials of knowledge; it is thinking makes what we read ours. So far as we apprehend and see the connection of ideas, so far it is ours; without that it is so much loose matter floating in our brain.
—John Locke

That I should entertain the possibility of a negative answer to the title question may already have cost me readers. It seems to me, however, that as course work concludes and the reading period begins too few are asking the question, "Ought I to read at all during these weeks?" Whether there ought to be a reading period is not the question, for such a thing is an omni-existential administrative fact, and one does not play around with those. Nor am I shouting my query to the man who, having decided in the negative, is already en route to the ski slopes. The matter of bibliographic morality has already eluded him. I have in mind the man who comes from a college where there were no reading periods, or the man who is a little tried by the irony of being allowed a

"break" to continue doing what he has done all semester, or the enthusiast who is already preparing to barricade himself in the library for the duration. To these people I am not addressing the question (with all deference to the man who first asked it of me) "What are you reading?" so much as "Why are you reading it?"

For it seems to me that there are people reading who should not be. I recall the little certificates we used to get in grade school for having read twenty-five books or some multiple thereof. At one point a friend and I outdid ourselves and vied for top honors by reading in the course of a school year two hundred books apiece. This was in the fourth grade, and as I recall we were down to some pretty questionable tracts before it was over. It nearly did my friend in (he later went to Harvard). Such a performance is perhaps forgivable in a young child, but I still see traces of this bibliomania in people old enough to know better. They place books like beads on the strings of their brains. They are the ones who (to paraphrase Dr. Johnson) think so meanly of themselves that they can discover nothing but what is to be learned from books. They are "deep versed in books, but shallow in themselves" (Milton). Such people should be barred from the library for at least a month. They need to think, to digest, to assimilate whatever intellectual nutritives they are holding in their minds.

Books have voices; they are like people with something to say; but we shall never understand them without conversation with them. A clamor of different voices, saying different things for different reasons, all at once, each demanding to be heard, this barrage on the mind is never intelligible. There comes a time when no matter how much we want to hear everyone we must say to one "Be quiet now," and to another, "Go ahead, I am ready to hear you." I suspect that many are near distraction from such a din of sound, from books if you please, and that for them the most responsible use of a reading period will not be to read, but to reflect, to ponder, to talk back a little to some of the printed loudmouths who have badgered them insensate.

For others, of course, the reverse will be true. The semester will have been a time of sustained critical reflection, of painstaking development of some thesis or other. The reading period will be a welcome time for the mind's refreshment. After weeks of elaborate and esoteric work in a specialty field, a student will want to go back to a good general survey of his subject. After living long with an idea a man will want to sit down with another person, a biography, a book of sermons, or some poetry. After a term of required or "recommended" books a man will want to read something frankly improbable.

Of course one will have to discriminate between good and bad reading material. But could he first be discriminate about himself and how he learns? There is his first responsibility, I think, to look deeply into his own mind and to see how it came to hold the things it does. Then, when he is satisfied he knows a little how he learns, he can decide whether he ought to read, and what. Anyone can memorize the titles on his shelves; it is another matter to be able to say why these titles, why my shelves.

There is no sacrifice of learning or excitement in such reflection. Only there does the "loose matter floating in our brain" come to rest in meaningful pattern and structure. We are then free to add to it by reading, but only then. Only "so far as we apprehend and see the connection of ideas, so far it is ours."
